

On renormalizability of Analytic Infinite Derivative (AID) theories

Alexey Koshelev
Universidade da Beira Interior
Portugal

In my talk I will address the questions of renormalizability of analytic infinite derivative (AID) theories on a general basis. I will show that such theories have certain peculiarities when one comes to computing amplitudes and cross-sections of the scattering processes. Ways to resolve the issues related to computation of Feynman integrals will be discussed.