On hydrodynamic approach to scalar condensate

Emin Nugaev
Institute for Nuclear Research
Russia

I will discuss energy-momentum tensor for explicit solutions in nonlinear complex field theory. In this case there is a possibility to compare spectrum of small fluctuations above the classical solution with results of hydrodynamic approach. The presence of nontrivial shear term will be considered for the stability issue.